- c) 641 Belmont. Don Franklin asked about the sewer in front of 641 Belmont. There is a smell coming from the sewer and it might be backed up. Jessica will look into it.
- d) Waterloo Catch Basins. Liz Cohen asked if the catch basins on Waterloo were cleared.
 - (i) In a follow-up e-mail dated March 11, Dan Manoli, Director of Infrastructure, Office of Alderman Tunney, responded "I visited the 3200 block of Waterloo yesterday afternoon and found that water at all four catch basins on the block had drained from the street and all areas were dry. It is not uncommon for rain water to collect and slowly drain from the street surface into the sewer mains especially after the Department of Water Management installed restrictor valves in a majority of the city's catch basins. https://www.chicago.gov/city/en/depts/bldgs/supp_info/blocking_rainwaterandpreventing_sewerbackup.html Dan also provided the following article: "City of Chicago:: Blocking Rainwater and Preventing Sewer Backup: Looking out the window as one flies into O'Hare airport, a sea of rooftops fills the Chicago landscape. And off those rooftops, much rain does run straight into the city's sewer system. www.chicago.gov"
- e) 3180 Broadway. Liz Cohen asked about the status of the chiropractor's business located at 3180 Broadway. There has been no activity in the space for a while. Jessica was not aware if the business closed but will look into it.
- f) Repainting of Marker Lines. Liz Cohen asked when the marker lines in the streets will be repainted. Jessica responded that she thought they were repainted in April and May. Jessica suggested that Liz reached out to Dan Manoli to confirm the schedule and the streets designated for marker lines repainting.
- g) Sheridan/Diversey Construction. Tom James asked about the 5G project at Sheridan and Diversey. Tom said it appeared that 5G work at this location was done several months ago. Is this a duplication of work and why is there a lack of coordination? (i) In a follow-up e-mail dated March 11 from Dan Manoli, Dan advised that "With regards to Diversey and Sheridan specifically, two 5G projects late last fall were coordinated through the Chicago Department of Transportation's Project Coordination office in an effort to bring all parties with slated projects to the location at once so that no additional digging was done post restoration. As I am sure you can recall in the past, prior to the Project Coordination Office being established at CDOT, it was very common and almost a given that after the city resurfaced a street it would be opened up by several different departments or utilities. https://www.chicago.gov/city/en/depts/cdot/provdrs/construction_information/news/2013/apr/city_s_project_coordinationofficeenterssecondconstructionseason.html" (ii) In addition, Dan cited the following article: "City of Chicago - City's Project Coordination Office Enters Second Construction Season in Partnership with Utilities. Mayor Emanuel announced today that the City of Chicago's Project Coordination Office (PCO) will enter a second construction season with the purpose of coordinating the schedules of infrastructure improvement projects of city departments and electric, gas and telecommunication utilities in an effort to eliminate duplicative work, save resources and reduce the amount of time Chicago's ... www.chicago.gov"
